FOREWORD

The titles that follow are of recurrent publications containing citations from among which items are selected for acquisition by the National Library of Medicine. The list is a full one and includes sources of all degrees of value. In the second and third sections (where all the titles in the first section are re-listed) asterisks are used to indicate publications that, for the purposes of this library, are considered of most importance for their particular countries or areas of interest.

For convenience, a few titles which are important in more than one category are listed more than once in Section II and III. At the end of some of the groups "also see" references are made to additional sources, indicated by number only.

The abbreviation "temp." indicates publications that are kept in the Library only for temporary use.
